

Trusting Your Gut Makes All the Difference

From inc.com

Alexa von Tobel, Founder and CEO of LearnVest, made a leap of faith in starting her business, and hasn't regretted it. Find out what advice she has for founding and growing your business.

Watch the video.

Alexa von Tobel is the founder and CEO of LearnVest.com, the award-winning financial management and lifestyle website. Originally from Florida, Alexa received an A.B. in Psychology at Harvard College. Upon graduation, she worked as a trader at Morgan Stanley before leaving to be the Head of Business Development at Drop.io, a venture backed start-up in NYC. She enrolled in Harvard Business School in 2008 only to take a leave of absence shortly after to launch LearnVest. Alexa was recently selected as a 2012 Fortune Most Powerful Women Entrepreneur and highlighted as "One of the Coolest Young Entrepreneurs" in Inc. Magazine's 30 Under 30 feature.

